

My thoughts on the matter are, how can a telemarketer talk about violation of first ammendment right? The government isn't suddenly saying "telemarketing is illegal", WE the consumers are speaking loud and clear that we don't want the phone calls. Seems to me the only people's rights being violated are the consumers.